

On the Cusp
by Shelly Jones

Here I stand,
a goat-footed archer
straddling an astrological cusp like a fiery ravine that yawns open
below me, waiting
for my hold to slip,
my arrow nocked,
itching to be loosed,
cast into the dark.