

Ride or Die

by Jason de Koff

Shapes written in the stars, the clouds of the night sky, spin supernatural prophecies above the grounded earth.
The scorpion prowls above with hardened carapace protected from love and pain, engaging the battles fought for change, succor for those in need,
seeking the answers to unknown questions upon the moonlit trails with manipulations of Loki and stinger seeds at ready each day can be engaged.
